Notes.

WASHINGTON, March 1.-The senate committee on appropriations this morning paved the way to the opening of the Cheroker strip. All needed legislation on the subject should find its way through congress speedily now, and the early opening of the strip become an assured fact within the next three days. The appropriations committee added the senate bill substan-tially as it passed the senate to the Indian appropriation bill. The intruder provision remains intact. ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., March 1 -- Imme ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., March t.—Immediately after the receipt of the associated press dispatch from Washington that troops would prevent the invasion of the Cherokee strip a reporter called of Captain J. W. Cunnick and Lieutenant William Voorbees, the chief officers of the Cherokee Strip lovasion association, and asked what course the homeseekers would pursue in that event. They said that the strip would be lovaded on March 6, according to program, unless concress trassed some act. be invaded on March 6, according to program, unless congress passed some act looking to the early opening of the lands.

Captain Cunnick said: "It must not be charged by the unthoughtful and uninformed that by so doing we are outlaws. We shall rely upon the decisions of the courts in cases familiar to all homeseekers. The soldiers may expel us at one point, but they cannot successfully and continuously guard a territory with a border on the north and south extending more than 300 miles."

"The homesteaders," said Lieutenant "The homesteaders," said Lieutenant Voorhees, "many of whom have been here for years, have wasted the earnings of a life time by the unnecessary delays of congress. We are old soldiers and American citizens and claim the right as such to move upon the povernment domain, without fear of being expelled or molested in the peaceable possession of our homes."

This afternoon Professor T. W. Conway, superintendent of the Pawnee Indian schools accompanied by friends, made a tour along the line of the Cherokee strip. They found many homescekers in camp, doubtless ready for invasion on the 6th last. A mile east of Chilocco and six miles south of this city a company of cavalry has gone into camp. The soldiers are regarded as friends by the boomers. The professor said that in coming in he counted eighty-five teams within two miles of this city, going south, each team loaded with camp equipage and farming implements.

THE OKLAHOMA LEGISLATURE. GUTHRIE, O. T., March, 1.-[Special.]-At the morning session of the house the committe of the whole to consider bills on the calendar, The bill relating to county clerks was throttled and gave up the ghost. The provision allowing clerks to appoint a deputy was the feature that worked the defeat of the bill. The bill relating to landlords and tenants was recommended for passage.

The committee then rose.
Council bill No. 83 (the anti-gambling bill) was then taken up. On a motion to suspend the rules, in order that the proper prelimenaries for its passage might be made, the vote scood 15 to 8. The speaker held that the motion had prevailed by a two-thirds vote. This set the arithmeticians to work, with the result of different answers. On the question, Shall the bill pass? 12 members voted aye and 8 no. Messrs. Beatty, Merrick, Carrington, Moyle, Ozman, Wimberly and Stovill refused to vote. The roll call was continued, giving them many opportunities to do so, but the seven men-afraid-of-a-record persistently maintainet silence.

The discussion arose over the propose woman suffrage amendment. The juint respittion (already passed by the senter, contains a change in time of residence in the state for all voters, from six mouths to one year. The house amended the joins resolution by striking out one year and leaving the time of residence as it is now. During the discussion it was clearly developed that a large majority of the house are in favor of submitting the question of woman suffrage to the people to vote upon; and it is also evident that a majority of the members are in favor of their having suffrage. The floor of the house and the galleries were both crowded with women.

The committee of the whole reported, by nearly a unanimous vote, that the bill be put at the head of the calendar and passed as soon as amended. The bill was then placed upon third reading and passed by a vote of 94 ayes and 17 mays.

During the debate Ryan of Cherokee, a populist, made an outrageous attack upon the women of the state who were pressing the measure, saying that he had been in favor of woman suffrage until he came to Topeka, where he witnessed the night of Topeka, where he witnessed the sight of the leading women in the cause address-ing an assembly of lawless men, whose pockets were filled with whisay bottles. adjourns before it is reached.

Mr. Greeniee, a member from Hutchinson, does not like the senate measure. He does not think the legislature should fix rates. He believes that that power ought to rest with the railroad commissioners, and he has a bill before the house to that end. The bil also provides that the commissioners shall classify freight. Mr. Greenies was elected under a pledge to work for railroad legislation, as was also Spraker Bouglass. The latter is expected to give railroad bills the preference, and the former will do the work on the floor. Mr. Greenies bill was printed and referred to the railroad committee, but this red to the railroad committee, but this morning Judge Atherton of Russell sent up a resolution calling it from that committee and referring it to the committee of the whole.
